

MOB TALK HEARD AT NORTH VERNON

Indictments Returned Against J. R. Clark, James Tyler and Henry Romine For McQuaid Murder.

WERE TAKEN TO INDIANAPOLIS

Brought Here in Automobile and Placed in Jail Until Train Arrives—Romine a Veteran.

J. R. Clark, James Tyler and Henry Romine were arrested at North Vernon at 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon charged with the murder of the McQuaid brothers on Monday night, Oct. 7. Indictments were returned against the men by the Jennings county grand jury which has been investigating the case. All of the men live at North Vernon but are well known here.

As soon as the men were arrested they were placed in automobiles and driven to this city and taken to Indianapolis for safe keeping. While in Seymour they were placed in the city jail. They were in charge of Sheriff John Donnelly, of Jennings county, City Marshal Frank Smith, and Special Officer Longacker of North Vernon. Sentiment ran high against the men as soon as the arrest became known and there was considerable mob talk. The officers believed it would be unsafe to keep the men in Jennings county over night, and arrangements were at once made with the Marion county officials to place them in jail at Indianapolis.

There was considerable surprise at the arrest of Romine, as he is a man of excellent standing in the community and always bore a good reputation. He is about sixty-five years of age and was a veteran in the civil war. For a number of years he conducted a saloon at North Vernon, but was known as a man who never took a drink himself. When the new option law went into effect he was one of the four men to be given license for the retail of intoxicating liquor at North Vernon.

It is said that the reputation of Clark and Tyler has always been more or less questionable, although they have never before been in trouble. Tyler is an auctioneer and has frequently been in Seymour. Clark is a stock buyer and is well known in Jackson and Jennings counties. Tyler lived near the McQuaid home practically all of his life until about a year ago when he moved to North Vernon. Little is known regarding the evidence upon which the three men were arrested, as all the work was done behind the closed doors of the grand jury. It is said, however, that Romine refused to talk when questioned by the grand jury, and it was unable to secure very much information from him.

It is reported that the cap, which was found near the McQuaid home, was identified as belonging to Clark, and the laprobe, it is said, belonged to Clark's father. The revolver holster, found near the telephone pole and supposed to have been lost by one of the murderers when he climbed the pole in order to cut the telephone wires, was said to have been the property of a second hand dealer at North Vernon. It is reported that the second hand dealer loaned the case to Romine a few nights before the tragedy took place. Romine, it is understood, claims that the holster was stolen from his desk. It was reported here that the horse driven by the guilty parties lost a shoe on the road and that the course taken by the murderers could be followed by the imprint of the horses' hoofs in the dust on the road. This is alleged to have had an important bearing in the arrest.

The McQuaid brothers were highly respected men of Jennings county and there has been serious talk of lynching if the murderers were found. It will be remembered that the McQuaid brothers were called from their home at a late hour on the fatal night by two men who said that their wagon had broken down and that they desired a light so they could repair it. Charles McQuaid, the elder of the two brothers, replied that they did not have a lantern and returned into the house after a lamp. As soon as he stepped outside of the door he was struck in the side of the head and stabbed in the body. He was also shot. He called to his brother John to come to his assistance and as soon as John McQuaid stepped outside of the door he was shot down and instantly killed. Charles lived about an hour after the tragedy but was unable to give very much information regarding the guilty parties. It was believed at the time that the guilty parties were acquainted with the McQuaids and with the surroundings of their home because of the manner in which the murders were committed. It is said that when Charles was hit the assailant called him by his first name and said "Now I will get even with you." It is believed that the murderers intended to rob the house as it was reported that the McQuaids had considerable money concealed in their house. It was known that they were not patrons of any bank.

It was reported here yesterday evening that another arrest might be made today, but a telephone message from North Vernon about noon stated that no one else had been arrested and it was not believed there that a fourth man would be arrested.

CHARLES R. RUTTKAR DEAD

Was a Plasterer by Trade—Lived Here Twelve Years.

Charles R. Ruttkar, aged sixty-four years, died at 1:20 o'clock this morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. F. Ficken on West Fourth street, after an illness of several weeks. Mr. Ruttkar lived in this city for twelve years and was well known. He was a plasterer by trade. He was a member of the St. Paul church.

Mr. Ruttkar is survived by his widow, two daughters, Mrs. Minnie Goebel, of Huntington, and Mrs. Ficken, of Seymour and one son, C. W., of Huntington. He also leaves a brother and sister, who reside in Holland, Ind. He leaves six grandchildren. The funeral services will be held at 7:30 this evening from the residence, conducted by The Rev. H. R. Boock, pastor of the St. Paul church. The remains will be shipped to Huntington at 6 o'clock Saturday morning and services will be conducted there at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. ## CRUSHED TO DEATH BY FALLING LOGS

Jasper Stark Met With Fatal Accident Early This Morning While Loading a Car.

LIVED BUT A SHORT TIME

Received Internal Injuries and His Left Leg Was Broken and Badly Lacerated by Timbers.

Jasper Stark was fatally injured about 7 o'clock this morning while loading logs on a flat car. He was attempting to secure the logs with wire when some of them slipped and struck him. Five of the heavy logs rolled over his body before he could be assisted by the men who were working with him.

Mr. Stark was injured internally and suffered a broken left leg. He was hurried to the city hospital but he died a few minutes after the arrival of the physicians. The flesh was torn from his leg which indicated that the log had struck him with great force.

Mr. Stark was fifty-eight years of age and lived in Seymour for many years. He is survived by his widow and two sons, Clarence and Frank of this city. He also leaves seven grandchildren.

The funeral will be held Sunday, but arrangements will be made later. Charles Thompson who was working with Mr. Stark had a narrow escape from serious injury. He was working on top of the logs when they started to fall and was thrown to the ground. Fortunately he was not seriously injured. He received several bruises but no bones were broken.

KICKED BY HORSE

William Flick of Dudleytown, Painfully Injured.

William Flick, a well known farmer residing near Dudleytown, was painfully injured Thursday night. He was looking after his horses when one of them kicked him.

The three lower ribs on his right side were fractured and his kidney injured. A local physician was called and dressed his wounds. He suffered considerable pain from his injuries, but is resting well today.

ALL THE SOLDIERS LIKED SEYMOUR

Wanted to Stay Here Another Day But Were Unable to Do So on Account of Schedule.

COL. GLENN SPOKE AT BANQUET

Said That Sufficient Standing Army Was Needed in Order to Protect People of United States.

The Twenty-third Regiment broke camp at the city park at 5:30 o'clock this morning and an hour later started on its "hike" towards Walesboro. The officers and men were greatly pleased with Seymour and the hospitality shown them. The majority of the soldiers had such an enjoyable time here that they wanted to remain another day, but this was not possible as the schedule had been prepared in advance. The people at Walesboro had completed all arrangements for the entertainment of the soldiers and were expecting them there this afternoon.

The soldiers were unanimous in declaring that Seymour was the best all around place they visited on the trip. They said that there was more business here and that the stores were far superior to any they had seen since they left Fort Benjamin Harrison. And the men were not talking to be courteous for the remarks were made while a number of them were discussing the trip, and so far as they knew no one outside of their group heard them.

The men were not favorable to the plan of establishing a camp between here and Columbus, and when they were informed that Columbus was only twenty miles away with good roads for marching they asked that they remain here another day and make the trip to Columbus Saturday. The officers, however, thought this would not be advisable as the Walesboro people were planning to entertain them and they desired to follow the schedule as far as they could.

The officers were greatly pleased with the dinner given in their honor at the New Lynn Hotel Thursday night. About thirty officers were present. T. S. Blish was toastmaster and addresses were made by Mayor Swope, Judge O. H. Montgomery, and Judge John M. Lewis. As soon as the party was seated at the table Mayor Swope was introduced and upon behalf of the citizens expressed appreciation of the visit. Judge Montgomery and Judge Lewis made appropriate speeches welcoming the soldiers to the city.

Colonel Edwin F. Glenn spoke for the officers and after expressing appreciation of the courtesies shown the Regiment spoke briefly concerning the army. He declared that he was not in favor of an enormous standing army, but believed that it should be enlarged to be sufficient to protect the one hundred millions of people with all the varied interests in this country and also the foreign possessions. He spoke of the Philippines and the Panama Canal which were valuable possessions and the country should look after them. He said the people of the United States would regret

STOLEN WHEEL FOUND

J. Robert Blair Finds Bicycle East of The City.

A few days ago J. Robert Blair, bookkeeper at the First National Bank, left his bicycle on the outside of the building and when he went to get it a few hours later, found it was missing. He at first supposed that someone had borrowed it but when it was not returned he became suspicious. He advertised for the wheel and was informed that a bicycle, or rather a part of one had been found on the High street road.

The wheel proved to belong to him. The front wheel had been taken off and the tire stolen. A grip from the handle bars was taken off and one pedal was gone. Some boys found the wheel, but it is not known who stole it.

Educator

EYES, TEETH AND FEET.

Many parents who give careful thought to the eyes and teeth of their children, forget they have feet. Yet at the tender growing age they are very sensitive to shoe discomforts. The constant irritation of tight ill fitting shoes robs them of their animal spirit leaving the mind dull and listless. Educator shoes give ample room for five toes. They are made for hard usage yet are not clumsy. The Educator gives the child's foot a square deal by letting them grow as they should. Made for the whole family.

T. W. LAWSON TOLD INSIDE SECRETS

Testified Before Committee That Wall Street Used Roosevelt to Split Republican Party.

DESIRED TO DEFEAT TAFT

Said Interests Had Planned to Bring About Deadlock at The Democratic Convention.

Washington, October 18.—Thomas W. Lawson, of Boston, who spent $100,000 of his own money in the Roosevelt preconvention campaign this year, testified before the Clapp investigating committee yesterday afternoon that Roosevelt was not originally brought into the campaign in good faith. The members of the investigating committee picked up their ears as Lawson told his very remarkable story. He said he received information in the early part of this year that Roosevelt was to be injected into the preconvention contest for the purpose of splitting the Republican party and thus prevent the re-election of President Taft, who had obtained the ill will of Wall street.

"I learned that men interested in finances in a big way were behind this movement to split the Republican party with Colonel Roosevelt," testified Lawson. "I understood the Wall street interest, the system did not want Taft re-election, and that they were going to do what they could to use Roosevelt to split the party. The scheme was to continue the fight up to the Republican national convention, and if Roosevelt failed of nomination by that convention, to form a third party. The system wanted to bring about just such a situation as we now have so far as the Republican party is concerned."

Mr. Lawson then testified that, according to the information that came to him from reliable sources in Wall street, the plan of the interests further provided that a deadlock in the Democratic national convention at Baltimore should be brought on and a dark horse nominated for President by the Democrats. This dark horse was to be entirely satisfactory to Wall street. Lawson said that during the Republican national convention at Chicago in June he communicated the details of this program to William Jennings Bryan, and that, acting on his information, Mr. Bryan went to Baltimore and upset the scheme of the interests by bringing about the nomination of Woodrow Wilson. Lawson testified that the interests subscribed $1,000,000 with which to put through this double barreled scheme of splitting the Republican party with Roosevelt and of bringing about the nomination of a satisfactory dark horse by the Democratic national convention.

The only jointless leg bottom and base with full radiation and large ash pan that is on the market or has ever been made in the history of the stove industry. The jointless leg bottom and base makes the stove air tight below the grate, which is the only true fire-keeping principle. It will be as good a fire keeper twenty years hence as it is today. The Hot Blast Air-Tight Florence will heat twice the space that can be heated by any other stove on earth at one-half the cost. The only perfect floor heater that is or has ever been made. All features are patented, and no stove manufacturer, dealer or user can copy same for seventeen years from date of patent without incurring liability for an action for damages. J. B. Howard, Inventor.

The Hot Blast Air-Tight Florence burns soft coal or slack, and all the smoke and gases. No filling up of the stove, pipe or flue with soot. No dirt inside or outside the house. It will burn hard coal and all the gases which escape from the hard coal base burner. It will burn wood and sawdust wet or dry. It will produce one-half less ashes than any other stove on earth with any kind of fuel, and leave no clinkers or half-consumed fuel.

REPORT MADE ON PROPOSED ALLEY

Council in Special Session Approved Benefits and Damages as Submitted by Committee.

FIXED THE TOTAL AT $405

Bids for Fourth Street Sewer Not Considered—Council Waiting for Decision on Injunction.

The city council met in special session last night to consider the report of the committee appointed to assess the benefits and damages of the proposed alley in block "W" between Walnut and Poplar streets and Brown and Bruce streets. The alley was ordered constructed east and west between Walnut and Poplar streets at a recent meeting of the council. The council inspected the property affected about a week ago and the task of fixing the damages and benefits was left to a committee.

The damages were divided as follows:

Mrs. Elizabeth Ahlbrand	$330.00
Mrs. Elizabeth Blase	25.00
John Colburn	25.00
Mrs. Mary Jackson	15.00
Carl Brunow	10.00

Following are the benefits fixed by the committee:

Mrs. Elizabeth Ahlbrand	$30.00
Albert Ahlbrand	30.00
P. J. O'Connor	85.00
Mrs. Elizabeth Blase	50.00
John Colburn	50.00
Mrs. Mary Jackson	35.00
Carl Brunow	40.00
Ed Blumer	42.50
William Reber	42.50

The report was approved by the council. The bids for the construction of the Fourth street sewer were not discussed as the injunction case is still pending in court and further action will be postponed by the council until the judge makes some disposition of the case.

The street commissioner was instructed to repair the alley between Indianapolis avenue and Ewing street at the rear of the interurban station. All of the councilmen were present at the meeting. In the absence of Mayor Swope A. A. Davison presided.

Popular Mechanics for November

Like the magic story book for which children are wont to long, each number of Popular Mechanics Magazine contains a complete new set of articles, all more marvelous than the last, but, unlike the story book, every authentic. In the November magazine there are 308 articles and 266 illustrations, the range of topics being limited only by the achievements and developments of the period.

The November Shop Notes and Amateur Mechanics departments are full of practical material, elucidated by diagrams and sketches. Of special interest in the Amateur Mechanics department are articles on: "How to make a Candy-Pulling Machine," "An Electric Shaving Mug," and "Remodeling a Talking Machine."

BALLOTS ORDERED

1,230,000 Will Be Sent to Various Counties.

The state board of election commissioners, in session Thursday at the office of Governor Marshall, released the ballots for the November election to the state printer and ordered 1,230,000 printed. The work will begin Saturday morning. Monday morning the force of clerks under Ed D. Donnell, clerk of the state board, will begin wrapping the packages of ballots in the basement of the statehouse and the county clerks will begin to arrive for the various packages Tuesday morning.

The number of ballots ordered printed by the state board will admit of a reserve, to be kept in a guarded vault at the statehouse for emergencies, numbering 45,000. That number will cover the entire shipment of ballots to the largest county in the state outside of Marion county. In case fire should destroy any of the county's supply the reserve will be used.

The increase in the total number printed, because of various increases in estimates throughout the state, because of the returns from registration was thirteen thousand ballots. The tickets will appear on the ballot, reading from left to right, as follows: Democrat, Republican, Prohibitionist, Progressive, Socialist and Socialist Labor.

The base ball game on West Second street Thursday afternoon resulted in a decisive victory for the soldiers. The local boys were handicapped in that they had not had the necessary practice, while the regiment's team had been playing every day for weeks and were in a position to put up a strong game.

Some of the soldiers who were here yesterday were quite frequently heard to shout "down with king alcohol," and then illustrate the remark. As a result of frequent illustrations several of them became top heavy about ten o'clock and had to be accompanied to the camp by their comrades.

SCROFULOUS TROUBLES

No truth is more forcibly manifested in physical life than the old saying "like begets like;" for just as the offspring of healthy ancestry are blessed with pure, rich blood insuring good health, so the children of blood-tainted parentage inherit a polluted circulation which fosters a chain of scrofulous troubles. The usual sign of a scrofulous inheritance are swollen glands about the neck, weak eyes, pale, waxy complexions, sores and ulcers and general poor health. These symptoms are most often manifested in early life, though sometimes maturity is reached before the trouble breaks out. Treatment should be commenced at the first indication of Scrofula for it may get beyond control if allowed to run unchecked. S. S. S. is the very best treatment for Scrofula. It renovates the circulation and drives out all scrofulous matter and deposits. S. S. S. goes to the bottom of the trouble and removes the cause and cures the disease. Then it supplies the weak, blood with healthful properties. S. S. S. is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks, and is as safe for young or old. Book on the blood and medical advice free.

The New Building and Loan Association has received the following letter from the auditor of state after his second examination of the association:

State Building and Loan Department, Indianapolis, August 8, 1912. Mr. Harry M. Miller, Sec'y., New Building and Loan Association, Seymour, Indiana.

My Dear Sir:

We have examined the report of the examination of the accounts and records of your association recently made by State building and loan examiner, Hon. Isaac Dunn. Your financial condition is satisfactory, loans well secured and accounts correct.

This is the second examination of your association made by the State and we are pleased to report, that your association has made splendid progress since our last examination and your policy is conservative, honest and economical.

Your association pays three times as much in dividends as the Postal Savings Bank pays interest and there is no need of the Postal Savings Bank in competition with your association.

Safety is the possession of paramount importance among the people and under the efficient management of your well known officers of ability and responsibility and with the same system of State examination as provided for banks and trust companies, which we now have under the new building and loan law, (generally conceded to be the best building and loan law in the United States) we regard your association as being safe and sound in every particular.

Your association is entitled to and will receive the most cordial assistance that is possible for this department to grant.

Yours very truly,

W. H. O'BRIEN,

Auditor of State.

Hospital Surgeons at Chicago Express Belief That Their Patient May Be Allowed to Return to Oyster Bay Next Week Unless Wholly Unexpected Complications Should Interfere—Colonel Issues a Statement.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—The surgeons in attendance upon Colonel Roosevelt at Mercy hospital say he is gaining steadily and believe that he is upon the highroad to recovery, unless complications set in. "The colonel is resting well and reacting rapidly to his normal temperament, and we are all much pleased with his condition," is the way Chief Surgeon John B. Murphy put it.

The crucial period is expected to be reached tonight. If no trace of septic poisoning develops by that time the doctors say it will be a case of marking time during the tedious period of the wound healing, and that in a week's time at least it will be possible to move the colonel to his home in Oyster Bay.

The steady improvement of the colonel is attributed in part to the firm manner of Mrs. Roosevelt in taking charge of the sick room. With the load of anxiety caused by a belief that the bulletins of the surgeons were holding something back removed from her mind, Mrs. Roosevelt took full charge of the sick room and ruled the colonel with an iron hand, limiting his callers to the members of the family circle and a few others. Not for some time did the colonel become aware of the fact that his wife was acting as intermediary. He then expostulated mildly because he was not given an opportunity to say anything about it, by saying: "This fight for the rule of the people is all a sham. Here I am a victim of machine rule myself."

But the protest was without avail. The colonel is confident that ten days' time will see him taking part in the campaign again. A program of quiet and rest will be the order for the colonel. Probably his only guest aside from the members of his family will be his running mate, Governor Hiram Johnson. Governor Johnson is scheduled to make a speech in Chicago tonight, and will have an interview with the colonel.

Colonel Makes a Statement.

Colonel Roosevelt has issued a signed statement, the first since the attack on him in Milwaukee. In his perusal of the newspapers his attention was attracted to the Franklin (Ind.) speech of Colonel W. J. Bryan. He summoned a stenographer and made reply to Mr. Bryan as follows: "I wish to express my cordial agreement with the manly and proper attitude of Mr. Bryan at Franklin, Ind., when, in arguing for a continuance of the discussion of the issues at stake in this contest he said:

"The issues of this campaign should not be determined by the act of an assassin. Neither Colonel Roosevelt nor his friends could ask that the discussion should be turned away from the principles that are involved. If he is elected president it should be because of what he has done in the past and what he proposes to do hereafter."

"I wish to point out, however, that neither I nor my friends have asked that the discussion be turned away from the principles that are involved. On the contrary, we emphatically demand that the discussion be carried on precisely as if I had not been shot. I shall be sorry if Mr. Wilson does not keep on the stump and, I feel that he owes it to himself and the American people to continue on the stump.

"So far as my opponents are concerned, whatever could with truth and propriety have been said against me and my cause before I was shot can with equal truth and equal propriety be said against me now and it should be so said; and the things that cannot be said now are merely the things that ought not to have been said before this is not a contest about any man; it is a contest concerning principles.

"If my broken rib heals fast enough to relieve my breathing I shall hope to be able to make one or two speeches yet in this campaign; in any event, if I am not able to make them, hundreds will be stating our case to the end of the campaign, and I trust our opponents will be stating their case also."

Police Were on Guard.

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 18.—The report of a threat made by an unknown Italian to shoot Wilson the same as Roosevelt was shot, resulted in a large number of policemen being distributed through the audience at the opera house last night when the governor spoke.

Another Steel Mill Victim.

Gary, Ind., Oct. 18.—Lana Williams twenty-eight years old, a steel worker was killed in the United States steel mills. He is the sixteenth victim since August.

Suicide of American Consul. Tenerife, Canary Islands, Oct. 18.—William Whitney Kitchen, United States consul at Laguna, committed suicide by shooting with a revolver.

to have them taken by some other country at some unguarded moment, and that some of the other powers were looking in their direction.

"We are an expensive proposition," continued Col. Glenn, "and we admit it. It is not entirely our fault, however, for the people of the United States want their army to be the best clothed and best fed in the world and I believe we are, so far as that goes." He said that a larger army was needed to protect our commerce and the relative cost of enlarging it would not be large. He pointed out that the army of Germany was worth millions of dollars to that country, the figures having been compiled by a prominent man of that country.

In speaking of the size of the United States army, Col. Glenn said that if all the standing army and national guards were called to duty there would not be a sufficient number to fill the non-commissioned offices. In his opinion an army was not needed for purposes of war as much as for the protection of commerce and enforcement of police powers in this country and in the possessions.

Col. Glenn said that the soldiers had had a very enjoyable trip since they left Fort Benjamin Harrison and that the people all along the way had shown them every courtesy possible. He declared that the men were much impressed with southern Indiana, and felt very kindly towards its people.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood, and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

MARSHALL'S INCONSISTENCY.

(Lake County Times.)

French Lick has become known as Monte Carlo of America. It is notorious that the place has run wide open without fear of interference or prosecution, during all of Marshall's administration as governor of Indiana.

French Lick is the personal enterprise of Thomas Taggart, a very estimable gentleman who makes the entertainment and recreation of people his business and politics his diversion.

He became democratic national chairman once and naturally wields some influence in Indiana politics. Taggart has a political machine. It is in his favorite plaything and besides it helps him in his business.

The only man able to boost Marshall into the vice presidency was Tom Taggart. Tom has never been very strong for Marshall, he is too good a sport to warm up to a thin anonymous individual like Marshall. But he did owe the governor a debt of gratitude.

French Lick has been a good investment for years. There are good business men who would rather have the profits from the American Monte Carlo for a season than the annual rental from one of Chicago's biggest skyscrapers.

And so when Marshall wanted the vice presidency Taggart took advantage of a convention that was fatigued and exhausted from an all night fight over the nomination of a candidate for president and "put over" Marshall. A Chinese laundryman would probably have been nominated just as quickly by the convention under the circumstances.

And Marshall, of course, had to be loyal to Taggart. It would certainly have been the act of an ingrate to have closed up French Lick after its owner had boosted him into the vice presidential nomination.

Now we have no quarrel with French Lick. It is too far away to concern us materially. There is no room for reformation in the county. We do not seek discomfiture of conquest.

When Gov. Thomas R. Marshall

all, candidate for vice president of the United States, ignores conditions at French Lick and then reaches out his long thin arm to northern Indiana and threatens to stop a racing project for which responsible and respectable citizens stand sponsor and which, as yet, involves no violations of the law, it indicates the deep seated hypocrisy of the man and is proof of his utter unfitness for the exalted office to which he aspires.

Governor Thomas R. Marshall is one of the ten best reasons for the defeat of the democratic presidential ticket. It is impossible to vote for Wilson without voting for Marshall and if, in the event of the election of the democratic ticket, the calamity of the death of Wilson should make the little Columbia City lawyer, president, 100,000,000 people would cover their faces in shame.

BAD CUSTOM.

The majority of the people of the United States do not look with favor upon the practice of candidates for President chasing about the country making political speeches. The office is the most honorable that can be given to an American citizen and we feel that aspirants should conduct themselves accordingly.

Along this line the Washington Herald has the following:

The effort of a lunatic to kill Colonel Roosevelt should make the country begin to think about stopping the foolish custom, which sprang from Mr. Bryan's campaign tours in 1896, of causing the presidential candidates to race over the country, personally exposing themselves to danger from the cranks and undergoing fatiguing experiences that are bad for them. The practice is undignified and unnecessary, and is a slap-bang manner of playing politics that is not creditable to the good sense of the country. We ought not to expect our candidates for president to act like ward politicians. Governor Wilson started out in this campaign by intimating that he would not make any of the "around the circle" campaign trips, but he was dissuaded from this by the politicians. That he has determined to forego any further shipjack campaigning, at least so long as Colonel Roosevelt is inhibited by his physical hurt from reentering the campaign, is to his credit. Candidates for president should remain at home. They can make all the necessary speeches there.

When the Twenty-third Regiment left Seymour this morning every man carried away with him a most favorable impression of the city. The soldiers declared that the city was the best they had visited since their departure from the Post at Indianapolis. They said that the business done here exceeded that of any other place in southern Indiana, and they paid a high compliment to the stores. The beauty of the streets and the city in general attracted their attention and many of the men walked over part of the city just to get a better view of local scenes. It is not probable that Seymour will receive any financial benefit from the visit, yet it serves as an object lesson. We have in Seymour conditions of which we should and do feel proud. We know of them ourselves and should use every effort to tell others what we have. The boosting spirit in all lines of municipal activity can result only in good for the citizens and the city at large.

Dynamite Case.

Indianapolis, Oct. 18.—Miss Mary C. Dye of Pittsburg, reported to be a former sweetheart of John J. McNamara, was an important witness in the dynamiting cases. She identified fifty or sixty letters and fully 200 more will be presented to her for the same purpose. Letters in the handwriting of Ryan, Butler, J. J. McNamara, E. A. Caney, Hockin, Webb, Barry and a few other defendants were identified by Miss Dye. She also identified letters she had written to them at McNamara's dictation and letters from P. J. Morrin and William Bernhardt as having been received at headquarters while she was employed there.

These letters, the government holds, all contain correct references to dynamiting, and they will be read to the jury as soon as this identification is completed. There are nearly 500 of these letters, and they were written in the years from 1906 to 1911 and corresponded in many instances to the transportation of dynamite and the destruction of property as testified to by McNamara before the grand jury.

TURKEY TAKES BULL BY HORNS

Ottoman Empire Declares War On Allies.

FIGHT NOW IS ON IN EARNEST

Long Smouldering Rage of the Balkan Peoples Against the Islamites Will Be Given Vent in a Warfare That Will Involve All the States of Lower Europe, Including Greece, Which Is Drawn Into It Through Cretons.

London, Oct. 18.—Turkey has formally declared war upon Serbia and Bulgaria, and the minister for foreign affairs said that Greece, not included in the original declaration, would be notified at once that Turkey intends to fight her old enemy. Foretelling this action, Greece has declared war on Turkey.

When the declaration of war against the two Balkan states was made public there was much comment over the fact that Greece had been left out, but the minister of foreign affairs said that Greece had not attacked the Ottomans as had the lesser states and that therefore she was not included. As soon, however, as the porte learned that the Cretons were admitted to the Greek chamber of deputies it chose to regard that act as a casus belli.

Serbia has notified her envoy at Constantinople that she on her side, has declared war against Turkey and King Peter has gone to the front to order his troops to advance.

Turkey, in her declaration, blames Bulgaria and Serbia for the border fighting of the last few weeks and accuses the little states of attempting to interfere with the internal affairs of Turkey.

The Governor Speaks.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—"I shall not permit betting in Indiana. I have given instructions to proper officials to this effect. If they fail to carry out my instructions, I shall displace them." This was Governor Marshall's declaration after hearing of betting at the race meeting of the Mineral Springs Jockey club at Porter, Ind. The Democratic vice presidential candidate passed through Chicago en route west on a speaking tour. "I left the duty of enforcing the law in the hands of the attorney general, Thomas M. Honan," Governor Marshall said. "My instructions were positive: 'Search for all evidence, take advantage of every excuse for prosecution, and wipe gambling out.' I want it understood that I am not backing down. Mr. Honan is at work and there is no doubt we will put the gamblers out of business."

...under his roof, but that if he would only speak the word his servant would be healed. When the messengers returned to the centurion's house they found the servant whole that had been sick. He had been healed in the same hour that Jesus had said, "As thou hast believed, so be it done unto thee."

As Jesus commended the centurion's faith He said to the people that many would come from all parts and share the kingdom with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, while many who supposed they were sure of it would find themselves cast into outer darkness. How essential it is that we become in God's way
His children and know that our names are written in heaven (Luke x, 20; Rev. xx, 15; xxi, 8), for many who profess to be His will have to hear Him say,
"I never knew you, depart from Me."
(Matt. vii, 21-23). Mark the poverty of spirit of the centurion, no self-concept or consciousness of the importance of his position, but evidently from his heart, "Lord, I am not worthy." Something of the spirit of him of Luke xviii, 13, 14, who went to his house justified.
There is only one who is truly worthy,
and when we take our right place before Him He is ready to honor all the faith we place in Him.

As to the other incident I have often thought that Jesus went away off there to be refreshed by that woman's great faith, for knowing all things He knew all about her and her trouble, and the way she would come to Him and cling to Him and take no denial. Nothing pleases Him like faith, and without faith it is impossible to please Him.
It is written that the centurion's servant was dear unto him, but here it is a mother pleading for her own daughter who must have been dear to her,
and specially dear because of her af-liction, for the sick one in a home generally has the sympathy of all. As we think of those who are dear to us do we consider the words of our Father in heaven concerning His only begotten Son, "This is My beloved Son in whom I am well pleased?" (John iii, 16; Matt. iii, 17; xvii, 5). Let us also lay to heart that we do not honor the Father unless we honor the Son; and that since God spared not His own Son He will with Him also freely give us all things (John v, 23; Rom. viii, 32).

Probably this distressed mother did not know these great truths, but she knew that she had a greatly afflicted daughter, she had heard of this wonderful teacher who could heal all diseases and cast out demons and had no doubt longed to reach Him, but He was too far away, and so her case seemed hopeless. But now He had come near to her, the blessing was within her reach, and as soon as possible she is at His feet beseeching Him for her daughter. To get the complete record we must put the accounts in Matthew and Mark side by side. To her first appeal Jesus answered her not a word.

The disciples besought Him to send her away. He then said that He was sent only to the lost sheep of the house of Israel. She first cried unto Him as the Son of David, now she says, "Lord, help me." To this He replied, "It is not meet to take the children's bread and cast it unto the dogs."
Then came her conquering appeal,
"Yes, Lord, yet the dogs under the table eat of the children's crumbs." Willing to own herself a gentle dog pleading for a crumb, she gets all she came for. "For this saying go thy way; the devil is gone out of thy daughter." In each of these cases note the extreme weakness and lowliness of the applicants.

THE LESSON QUIZ.

D. D.]

Mission to the Gentiles. Mark vii:24-30; Matt. viii:5-13.

Golden Text—He that cometh to me
I will in no wise cast out. John vi:37.

(1.) Verse 24—Where were "the borders of Tyre and Sidon," to which Jesus had come, and what probably had induced him to come here?

(2.) Why did Jesus say, "It is not meet to take the children's bread and cast it unto the dogs?"

(3.) What evidence is there that Jesus did not "run recklessly"? (Luk. ix, 3) and that he taught his disciples in harmony with his practice?

(4.) Is it cowardly or brave and wise to run from danger when our humanity would injure the cause for which we stand?

(5.) Verses 25-26—What difference is there, if any, between the natural heart hunger for God of an educated heathen and of an educated Christian?

(6.) What are the reasons for believing that God has always loved the people of other nations as well as he has loved the Jews?

(7.) In which are normal parents more interested, themselves or their children? Give your reasons.

(8.) Will Christ today spurn any that come to him for help, whether white or black, bad or good? Why? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(9.) Verse 27—Why did Jesus give this harsh answer to the agonizing request of this woman?

(10.) What was the literal meaning of these figurative words of Jesus?

(11.) Why is it that God often permits providence to frown upon us and that our prayers for good things remain so long unanswered?

(12.) Which process develops the more sturdy character, to get all one wants with little or no effort or to be compelled to wait and work and suffer in order to obtain necessary things?

(13.) Verses 28-29—How do you account for this woman's wisdom and great faith?

(14.) What spirit upon the whole did this woman show?

(15.) Why does humility become us all in our approaches to God?

(16.) Verse 30—If we persevere in our prayers and are not discouraged may we rest with perfect assurance that they will finally be answered? Why?

(17.) When our prayers are answered are the results generally below or above our expectation? Give your reasons.

(18.) Matt. viii:5-7—Who was this man and what is a centurion?

(19.) What would you say was the religious character of this man?

(20.) Is there enough light in every nation, whether they have the Bible or not, so that men may find their way to God? Why?

(21.) Verses 8-9—What is the relation between humility and faith?

(22.) If God by speaking a word can heal all the sick and give comfort to all in trouble why does he not do so?

(23.) Verses 10-13—Is great faith under our own control? Why?

(24.) What is the reward for great faith?

(25.) What is the punishment for lack of faith?

(26.) Is our faith for specific things always honored or are we at times disappointed? Why?

GRANDMOTHERS USED SAGE TEA

To Darken the Hair and Restore Natural Color.

It is easier to preserve the color of the hair than to restore it, although it is possible to do both. Our grandmothers understood the secret. They made a "sage tea," and their dark, glossy hair long after middle life was due to this fact. Our mothers have gray hairs before they are fifty, but they are beginning to appreciate the wisdom of our grandmothers in using "sage tea" for their hair and are fast following suit.

The present generation has the advantage of the past in that it can get a ready-to-use preparation called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy. As a scalp tonic and color restorer this preparation is vastly superior to the ordinary "sage tea" made by our grandmothers.

The growth and beauty of the hair depends on a healthy condition of the scalp. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy quickly kills the dandruff germs which rob the hair of its life, color and luster makes the scalp clean and healthy, gives the hair strength, color and beauty, and makes it grow.

Sunday School Lesson

Lesson III. October 20.

MISSION TO THE GENTILES Mark 7:24-30; Matt. 8:5-13.

GOLDEN TEXT.—Him that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out.—John 6:37.

The two incidents of these lessons, though far separated as to the time of their occurrence, are both illustrations of great faith on the part of two people who were not of Israel—foreshadowings, no doubt, of the time when blessing shall go from Israel and her right sons king to all other nations, as set forth in Ps. lxxvii and many other places in such wonderful words as these, "God be merciful unto us and bless us, that Thy way may be known upon earth, Thy saving health among all nations," and meantime contrasting the "little faith" or "no faith" of Israel with the "great faith" of those of lesser privilege.

The story of the woman of Tyre and Sidon follows in the regular order of events, while that of the Roman cen-turion takes us back to a time just after the choosing of the twelve apostles. Both events are recorded by Matthew; the centurion also in Luke vii and the gentle woman in Mark in the lesson of today. The great words in each lesson are, to my mind, "O woman, great is thy faith, be it unto thee even as thou wilt," and "Verily I say unto you, I have not found so great faith, no, not in Israel. *** Go thy way, and as thou hast believed, so be it done unto thee" (Matt. xv, 28; viii, 10-13).

Taking the story of the centurion first, we note that his servant, who was dear unto him, was sick unto death, and the messengers who came to Jesus on his behalf spoke of the centurion's love for the nation and how he had built them a synagogue; but the centurion himself said, either personally or by his messengers, that he was not worthy to have the Lord Je-

CHAPTER XVIII.

The Bracelet Is Identified.

The horror of Winthrop's arrest had not magnified over night. The newspapers came out with a blare of headlines: "Noted Author Arrested, Accused of Vast Jewel Thefts. General Schuyler Shot!" Mrs. Hazard had gone on Winthrop's bail, and they made a lot of that, hinted at an engagement between the accused and Laura, endeavored to make John Crown-inshield, as counsel, significant, tried to invent a mystery out of a balky carburetor—and they are!—admitted that a mud-headed detective might have made a mistake, and fizzled out toward the end like a wet firecracker. The story hadn't a leg to stand on.

It was received in just that spirit at Lone Oak. There was some embarrassment at first, but Winthrop suspected of being a thief was so ridiculously absurd that before noon it was a joke.

Laura shed a few tears of honest concern at the breakfast table when she saw the silly thing in the papers, then she laughed. Mr. Abercrombie got hot under the collar, and told us all what he would do with the police when he was governor, then laughed. Everybody else laughed, including His Grace, who merely knew it was a nice little bon mot of American humor. Only Natalie was serious.

I met her on the threshold of the side doors opening upon the terrace where the younger people were wildly welcoming the '90's as the motors arrived. She drew me back into the house while I merely wondered what had brought her out so early. It was only one.

"It's rather tragic about Mr. Abbott, isn't it?" she asked. The tone of her voice was serious, and her attitude was one of regret.

"Yes," I answered. "It looked like a tragedy, but this morning it was a comedy. General Hazard was hurt. Have you seen the papers?"

"I don't know if the situation is better or worse, that's why I wanted to know from somebody—from you."

"Oh, the newspaper always tries to make it worse than it is," I told her, and even at that it's nothing. The news about Mr. Abbott's and he can't prove it. Except for the general having been shot it's rather amusing, and something to break the monotony."

"The boys have gone to bring Mr. Abbott. They're going to celebrate, or something exciting. I know Mrs. Hazard will think we have a press agent."

"Any flippancy met no response from her."

"I'm glad it isn't serious," she said. "I'm glad after her curiosity as she looked through the wide hallway and into the library, then I went out onto the terrace. Winthrop had arrived with the '90's who had come for him, and just as I came out I met him with an outstretched hand."

"Good morning, Mr. Hap," she said. "Where is your car?" "Over there," he said, pointing to a motor. "Do you want to go?" "Yes," she said. "Interesting place. I've been to it. I'm tempted to go."

"I rubbed the back of his head, and the last bit of embarrassment disappeared in the laugh that went up."

"I was mentally juggling my crowd and planning my schedule for the day when a car that didn't belong to any of the '90's came up the driveway. It carried one passenger and a chauffeur, the passenger being a red-headed young man whom I knew instantly. Hap knew him, too. He reached the steps by the time the newspaper man did and politely managed to block his progress."

"There was a curious silence on the terrace after whisperings as to the identity of the newcomer. Everybody was listening."

"Miss Agazziz?" we heard Hap call. "Awfully sorry. Miss Agazziz is in town."

"Can you tell me where she is?" the reporter asked.

"She's shopping," Hap lied glibly. "Never know exactly where a woman is when she shops."

"Shopping?" repeated the reporter. "But—" He looked at Hap and smiled, glanced toward the front door, then frankly looked over Hap's shoulder at the crowd on the terrace. Hap noted the action and grinned. He swept his hand generally in our direction.

"You see she isn't here," he remarked affably. He was sure that Natalie was still up-stairs in bed, but I knew better, and every minute I expected to see her step through those doors onto the terrace. I moved and looked down the way. The reporter glanced at the front door again. Not one of us thought of its being a holiday.

"Will she be back this afternoon?" the reporter asked.

"I hardly think so," Hap answered. "I think she's going to stay over and shop again tomorrow. And I really can't tell you where she's staying. It might be with her aunt, you know, again it might be with her cousin, or yet again it might be with some friend—" He'd have gone on like that until doomsday, I suppose, if the reporter hadn't interrupted.

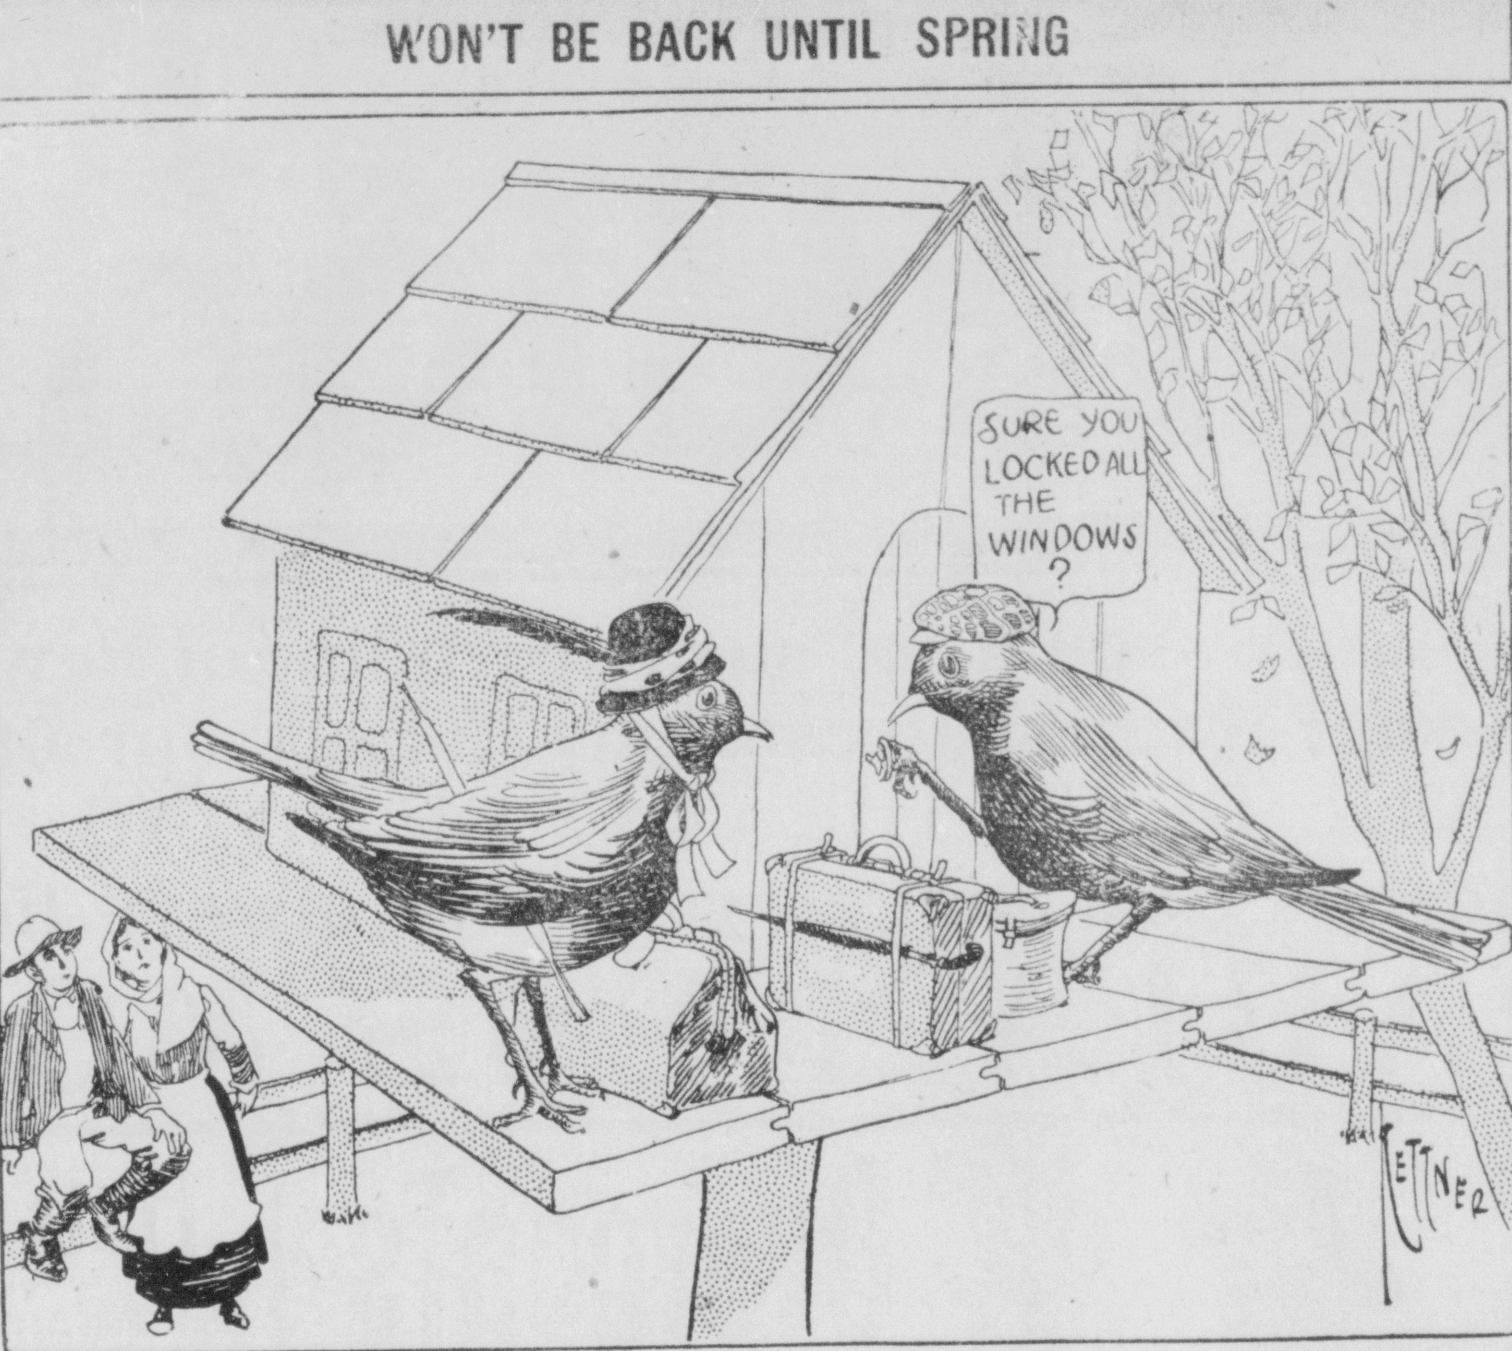

"I'd like to speak to Mr. Abbott," the reporter said, and started suddenly for Winthrop. But Hap's foot was mysteriously in the way, and the newspaper man had hard work adjusting his equilibrium. "I'd like to ask him if he can positively prove that the emerald—"

Something happened, we could never say just what. But the reporter's hat was on the ground and Hap, picking it up to restore it to its owner with exaggerated courtesy, was babbling about the gorgeous sunshine and the delightful breeze from the east. Then he linked his arm through the reporter's, and it was just as well for that red-headed young gentleman to go where he was being led. Five minutes later the car and the red-headed reporter disappeared down the driveway.

Hap called me aside. "Will you go tell Natalie that a newspaper man has been here, and not to let him trick her into seeing him if he comes back?"

"She's in the library if you want to tell her yourself," I told him. He knew there was something odd in Natalie's being up so early. He did some thinking, but the result of his meditations he didn't confide to me.

"You tell her, dear," he requested finally, that I want to talk to John."

WON'T BE BACK UNTIL SPRING

"I hardly think so," Hap answered. "I think she's going to stay over and shop again tomorrow. And I really can't tell you where she's staying. It might be with her aunt, you know, again it might be with her cousin, or yet again it might be with some friend—" He'd have gone on like that until doomsday, I suppose, if the reporter hadn't interrupted.

"I'd like to speak to Mr. Abbott," the reporter said, and started suddenly for Winthrop. But Hap's foot was mysteriously in the way, and the newspaper man had hard work adjusting his equilibrium. "I'd like to ask him if he can positively prove that the emerald—"

Something happened, we could never say just what. But the reporter's hat was on the ground and Hap, picking it up to restore it to its owner with exaggerated courtesy, was babbling about the gorgeous sunshine and the delightful breeze from the east. Then he linked his arm through the reporter's, and it was just as well for that red-headed young gentleman to go where he was being led. Five minutes later the car and the red-headed reporter disappeared down the driveway.

Hap called me aside. "Will you go tell Natalie that a newspaper man has been here, and not to let him trick her into seeing him if he comes back?"

"She's in the library if you want to tell her yourself," I told him. He knew there was something odd in Natalie's being up so early. He did some thinking, but the result of his meditations he didn't confide to me.

"You tell her, dear," he requested finally, that I want to talk to John."

I found Natalie replacing several books, but the Almanach de Gotha still lay open on the table. I delivered my message.

"Thanks," she said. "I'll be careful. Do you know what he wanted to ask me?"

"No."

"There wasn't any one but the reporter?" she went on anxiously. "No detective, or policeman?"

"No one but the reporter," I replied. Then suddenly: "Would you mind telling me if you had any particular reason last night for changing your mind about me?"

"Yes," she replied. "I simply came to my senses. I'll never be able to apologize sufficiently for what I said. My only consolation is that no one but the family know it." She closed the Almanach de Gotha and put it carefully back on the shelf. "Did you ever hear of the Duc d'Aubigny?" she asked.

"Yes," I answered. "Why?"

"Do you know that he was charged with jewel thefts in France and sent to jail?"

"I do. Why?"

She didn't answer for quite a while; finally she came close to me.

"It's a silly thing I'm going to tell you," she drawled. "I have no foundation for my suspicions, but Saturday, when I was in town, I'm sure I saw the Duc d'Aubigny!"

I gasped, and my mouth fell open. "Of course, I might have been mistaken, but the Duc d'Aubigny is not easily forgotten. He has a peculiar scar—"

"Yes, I know," I interrupted. "A saber cut."

"He's a handsome devil," she mused. "Saturday he seemed a bit shabby, and his hair was cropped close, as if he hadn't been out of prison long, and still he was handsome. I had leisure to observe him, and I am absolutely sure of him. We were caught in a matinee crush, and the Duc d'Aubigny was standing at the curb not six feet away from me. He saw me. He looked at me just as one glances at any stranger, but he knew me! I started to speak to him, but I never act on impulse, and there was a bare chance that I had made a mistake. But if he wasn't the Duc d'Aubigny it was his ghost!"

"But how could the Duc d'Aubigny have taken the ruby?"

"Sh-h-h-h!" she whispered. "I haven't dared think that far. He couldn't possibly have been connected in any way—" She did not finish. "You won't mention this to a soul, will you, Miss Codman? It's rather absurd."

"But if Winthrop should need—"

"You said his arrest was not serious," she interrupted.

"No, it isn't. Do you think Mr. Abbott is a thief?" I asked her plainly.

"I did think so. I'm sure now he isn't."

"Why?" I wanted to know. "Have you a reason?"

"Yes. I've come to my senses," she smiled.

Just how that red-headed reporter managed to come back up the driveway in a noisy car without either Hap or myself seeing him was an unexplained mystery. We both were within earshot on the tennis courts, and I was not playing. If only Hap had instructed Burrows not to take the card to Natalie! But he never thought of that.

Natalie, at first, sent back word that she was not there, but on the back of a card which bore the name "Mr. Samuel Dick, Evening Columbian," the reporter wrote something sufficiently magical to bring Natalie down-stairs, and the conversation that followed was sufficiently magical to send Natalie to her room to don a hat. She climbed in the car with the red-headed reporter, and was driven away. Two hours later she returned, went to her room, and sent Minette to say to Mrs. Hazard that she had a slight headache and didn't wish to be disturbed.

The Evening Columbian fell like a bomb into our midst at Lone Oak just before dinner. I remember one awful line in that glaring heading:

"Miss Agazziz Positively Identifies Emerald Bracelet."

Poor old Winthrop!

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Almost a Miracle.

One of the most startling changes ever seen in any man, according to W. B. Holsclaw, Clarendon, Tex., was effected years ago in his brother.

"He had such a dreadful cough," he writes, "that all our family thought he was going into consumption, but he began to use Dr. King's New Discovery and was completely cured by ten bottles. Now he is sound and well and weighs 218 pounds. For many years our family has used this wonderful remedy for Coughs and Colds with excellent results." It's quick, safe, reliable and guaranteed. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottle free at The Andrews Drug Co., Seymour, Ind.

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES

They Are Closely Observing Public Health Conditions.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview on the subject, made the astonishing statement that the reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of applicants do not even suspect that they have the disease.

He states that judging from his own experience and reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has probably been more successful in relieving and curing these diseases than any remedy known. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of cures.

We find that Swamp-Root is strictly an herbal compound and we would advise our readers who feel in need of such a remedy to give it a trial. It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes—fifty cents and one dollar.

However, if you wish first to test its wonderful merits, send to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle, absolutely free. When writing be sure and mention the Daily Republican.

EASY AND SURE WAY TO CURE COLDS.

Stop It in the Sneezing Stage With Ely's Cream Balm.

A cold generally attacks the weakest part, affecting the eyes and ears in some and producing nasal catarrh and throat troubles in others. A cold is due to inflammation of the membrane lining the air passages, and may be promptly cured with a little Ely's Cream Balm, which immediately relieves the inflammation and all the distressing symptoms, such as sneezing, coughing, running at the nose and eyes, hoarseness, sore throat, fever and headache. One reason why this pure, antiseptic balm acts so quickly is because it is applied directly to the tender, sore surfaces.

Even in severe, chronic cases of catarrh, Ely's Cream Balm never fails to quickly and effectually check the poisonous discharge which clogs the head and throat, causing the disgusting hawking, spitting and blowing of the nose. This remedy not only drives out the disease, but heals and strengthens the weakened membranes, thus ending catarrh.

Catarrh is a filthy, disgusting disease. Don't put up with it another day. Get a 50-cent bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist and see how quickly you will be relieved. It is perfectly harmless.—Advertisement.

ANSWER THE CALL.

Seymour People Have Found That This Is Necessary.

A cold, a strain, a sudden wrench, a little cause may hurt the kidneys. Spells of backache often follow.

Or some irregularity of the urine. A splendid remedy for such attacks,

A medicine that has satisfied thousands

Is Doan's Kidney Pills, a special kidney remedy.

Many Seymour people rely on it. Here is Seymour proof.

Mrs. Carl Lurison, 323 N. Mill St., Seymour, Ind., says: "I suffered from my back for a long time and often the secretions from my kidneys bothered me. I had dizzy spells and headaches, was languid and could hardly attend to my house work. Every cold I caught settled in my kidneys and made my trouble worse. Every little noise irritated me and I felt nervous. Doan's Kidney Pills relieved these troubles and in return for their good work, I recommend them at every opportunity."

The above statement must carry conviction to the mind of every reader. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mrs. Lurison had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50 cents at all stores. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.
